

ABSTRACT

The gene encoding a novel cytokine receptor-like protein homologous with the type I cytokine receptor super family was isolated from a differentiation-induced lymphocyte-origin cDNA library by using an originally developed cloning technique specific to genes encoding membrane secretory proteins.